Risk Statistics Definitions

Standard Deviation :Measures the risk or volatility of an investment's return over a particular time period; the greater the number, the greater the risk.

Beta :Measures the sensitivity of the fund to the movements of its benchmark.

Risk Adjusted Alpha :Measures the difference between a fund's actual returns and its expected performance, given its level of risk as measured by beta.

Sharpe Ratio :A risk-adjusted measure, calculated using standard deviation and excess return to determine reward per unit of risk. The higher the Sharpe ratio, the better the fund's historical risk-adjusted performance.

Investment Risks

The fund does not offer any capital guarantee or protection and you may not get back the amount invested.

Investment in company shares: The fund invests in shares of companies, and the value of these shares can be negatively affected by changes in the company, its industry or the economy in which it operates.

Emerging markets investment: The fund may invest in the markets of countries which are smaller, less developed and regulated, and more volatile than the markets of more developed countries.

Master-limited Partnerships: The fund may invest in or have exposure to MLPs, which may offer fewer protections to investors than investments in corporations. MLPs may be difficult to sell quickly and subject to volatile price movements. Any change in the tax treatment of MLPs could cause a significant drop in the value of MLP investments.

Real Estate Investment Trusts: Investment in REITs poses similar risks as investing directly in real estate, including changing values, tax rules and other laws. The value of investments in REITs and the level of cash flow generated for distributions to investors may be affected by defaults by borrowers and tenants. The value of US REITs may be affected if the REIT fails to qualify for preferential treatment under US tax rules and securities laws.

Fund currency: Changes in exchange rates between the currencies of investments held by the fund and the fund's base currency may negatively affect the value of an investment and any income received from it.

Fund operations: The fund is subject to the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people or systems or those of third parties such as those responsible for the custody of its assets, especially to the extent that it invests in developing countries.

Complete information on the risks of investing in the Fund are set out in the Fund's prospectus.

[^] The charges are the fees the fund charges to investors to cover the costs of running the Fund. Additional costs, including transaction fees, will also be incurred. These costs are paid out by the Fund, which will impact on the overall return of the Fund. Fund charges will be incurred in multiple currencies, meaning that payments may increase or decrease as a result of currency exchange fluctuations.

Important Information

The Fund may invest in certain types of derivatives for hedging purposes. Please refer to the prospectus for more information. Distributing Plus share classes may pay dividend out of capital. The payment of dividends out of capital effectively amounts to a return or withdrawal of an investor's original capital investment or of capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution will result in a corresponding immediate decrease in the Net Asset Value of these share classes.
